Wealth Vases

THE GURU RINPOCHE WEALTH VASE Consecrated by Tulku Pema Rinpoche of Tana Monastery, South India

Buddha Sakyamuni has taught generosity as one of the first paramita which forms the basis of all the practice and because of generosity we are born as humans and able to practise discipline, patience and so on. In order to practise generosity we need wealth so for that reason and to help the poor and needy beings, Guru Rinpoche manifest himself in Wealth God form and surrounded by the five-colour Zambhala and all other wealth deities. These brass vases are the result of accomplished pujas of particular deities which bring wealth, health, luck to the house. One should treat these vases with respect and put them in high and clean places in the house and make offerings on auspicious days, if possible.

The contents of the vases are 20 different herbs from India, sandalwood, 7 different crystals, different beans, Zambhala mandala chakra mantras and money.

I'm grateful for the opportunity to purchasepiece/s of the Wealth Vase @ RM450/= each for which the proceeds will go to the building of the Retreat Center in Tana Monastery, South India. Enclose herewith is my cheque details as follows.
